

Why Do People Partner With You?

Have you ever thought about why people want you as a complementary partner? What can others always count on you for to achieve a performance goal? In the space below, list up to four people who frequently want to make the most of your talents by partnering with you. Then write down your answer to this question, "Which of your greatest talents does this person benefit from?"

Who frequently seeks you out as a complementary partner?	Which of your greatest talents does this person benefit from?
Alisa	When Alisa is getting ready to meet with a client, she explains what she wants to accomplish, and I figure out what she needs and create the materials for her.